No suspects in Morgan Manor arson

Fire leaves one dead and $300,000 in damages

Police and fire officials said today that they have no suspects in the early morning fire that claimed the life of one man, injured three others and caused approximately $300,000 in damages at the Morgan Manor last Wednesday.

Police identified the dead man as Ronald David Malick, 37, of Detroit, who was visiting in the apartment of his former wife and daughter when the fatal fire began about 1 a.m.

Scores of other persons residing in the partment complex at 9960 Wayne Road fled the building. Some jumped out of a third-floor window.

Romulus fire captain William Daughenbaugh was injured when a beam fell and struck him on the head. Police said that captain Daughenbaugh escaped serious injuries because he was wearing a helmet. He was treated and later released from Wayne County General Hospital.

Donald Flood, Romulus safety director, said the fire was "definitely the work of an arsonist."

"At present we do not have any suspects in custody," Flood said. "State fire officials have joined our departments in the investigation. We are presently talking to people, however, we do not have any motives or suspects."

The fire broke out in Building F of the apartment complexes, 35570 Margaret at 1:07 a.m. Fire fighters from Romulus and Wayne responded. The fire had started on the ground floor of the 12-unit, three-story structure and crept inside the walls and reached the roof.

"We believe that someone had poured a flammable liquid on the first floor in the main hallway," Flood said. The fire turned into an inferno in a manner of seconds."

Flood said that most of the residents managed to escape and credited the buildings' fire detectors for alerting the inhabitants.

The series of apartment complexes, constructed in the early 1970's by prominent Romulus financier, Mel Morgan, had been sold to a New York publishing firm.

Sgt. David Early and Lt. Ken Kraus have been assigned to the case. Anyone with any information about the arson should contact them or the State Fire Marshal.

Local police may be reached by dialing 941-8400.

The work of an arsonist

Flames engulf Building F in the Morgan Manor as fire department units from Romulus and Wayne battle the inferno. The early morning fire routed some 500 residents, leaving in its wake one dead, three injured and more than $300,000 in damages. Fire and police officials say they have no motive or suspects for the arson.

$2,000
reward offered

Two recent cases of arson have prompted local fire and police officials to seek citizens' help in solving the cases.

Romulus Fire Chief James Haislip said the two cases — the deliberate setting afire of the Morgan Manor Apartment complex which resulted in the death of one man and injuries to several other residents, and a second arson last November of an unoccupied building are wanton acts of destruction.

In the second incident, two juveniles were seen entering the house before the structure went up in flames. Fire Inspector Charles Bradley and police officer William Davenport managed to take the juveniles into custody.

One of the defendants pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property (a felony); the second juvenile will be tried later this month.

Combined efforts between state insurance companies and the Michigan State Fire Marshal Division have led to a "Secret Witness" program. Information offered that leads to the arrest and conviction of anyone setting deliberate fires can bring up to $2,000 reward to the person offering the information.

If anyone has any information concerning an arson, they should call "Arson Control" at (517) 322-0469.

Council secretary stirs controversy

Does the City Council have the power to employ a council secretary?

Or is the City Clerk the city council's secretary?

These two questions have stirred controversy and divided the council in the wake of former mayor secretary, Nita Laine's resignation. Mrs. Laine was hired by council to serve as council secretary. She recently resigned from the $16,000 position.

At its last meeting, council agreed to hire Mary Hatten as the new council secretary. Ms. Hatten was to be employment on March 5.

Councilman Barry Baumann believes that the council can save the taxpayers' $16,000 by eliminating the position. He also challenges the council's right to create the position, pointing out that, by City Charter, the City Clerk is the official records' keeper of the city and council.

At the other end of the argument, Councilman Jimmie Raspberry and Peter Bergeron also point to the City Charter and tee to appoint Ms. Hatten. It also stated that Mrs. Laine would be laid off on March 5, 1984, enabling the former secretary to the ex-mayor, William Oakley, to receive unemployment compensation.

Baumann challenges Mrs.

"I believe that the way this has been handled is a disgrace."

Councilman Baumann

they believe that the council does have the power to employ a council secretary.

A motion, presented by Councilman Fred Junior Block, and supported by Raspberry, concurred with a recommendation by the Council Advisory Commit-

Laine's right to receive unemployment compensation because "she had submitted her resignation, therefore, quit her job."

"I believe that the way this has been handled is a disgrace," Baumann said. "First, I believe that we have no authority whatsoever to hire a council secretary since the City Charter is specific about who has the authority to hire personnel.

"Moreover, the City Charter does state that the City Clerk shall serve as secretary to the council and is mandated by the charter to keep council records, therefore, I feel we can save the city and the taxpayers $16,000 by leaving this position vacant."

Baumann said that if any employee qualified for compensation he would be among the first to defend that person's rights. "But I don't believe the majority of the council is right for voting for Mrs. Laine's lay off when, in reality, she has resigned."

In 21st district

Reeves to seek state rep seat

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Jim Reeves, Sumpter Township Supervisor since 1980, will seek the 21st district state representative seat recently left vacant by the death of Richard Sullivan.

"I'm definitely going to go for it," Reeves said Monday, adding that he will release a formal statement in the near future.

"I just feel they need a grassroots person up there to represent the district," Reeves said. "And I absolutely am familiar with the needs of all the communities in this district."

A Democrat, Reeves will seek to fill the shoes of Sullivan, a first-term Democrat from New Boston. Sullivan was buried on February 28, two months after he suffered a major heart attack.

No date has yet been set for a special election, and Reeves acknowledged the confusion surrounding the district's status. Currently, the 21st district is composed of Sumpter and Huron Township (the only two townships representing Wayne County); Exeter, Ash, London and French Town Township; and parts of Milan and Monroe.

A statewide reapportionment plan, however, is scheduled to take effect following the November elections of a new House of Representatives. Under the plan, Sullivan's district will shift to include the entire city of Milan and exclude Monroe.

The Michigan Attorney General is reviewing the situation to decide whether the reapportionment plan should apply in the special election. "He'll make his recommendation to the governor," Reeves said. "Until then, they won't be able to set a date for the election."

Since Sullivan was up for reelection this fall, his replacement would end up seeking office twice in a year, Reeves acknowledged.

A spokeswoman for the late representative said she hadn't

Employee's protection

Romulus Attorney Felix Rogalle was guest speaker at the February Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Rogalle's topic of discussion was "Wrongful Discharge." "The day that an employer can discriminately fire a person is gone. Employers must set rules for dismissal at the time of hiring and document all disciplinary actions," he said. The Chamber luncheons are held the third Tuesday of each month. For further information, call 941-5710.

yet heard of official candidates for Sullivan's seat. "All I've heard is that some of the townships are unhappy with the cost of a special election," the woman said.

Describing himself as a "close friend" of Sullivan, Reeves said he would not have sought the seat had the late representative lived. "I had the highest respect for him," said Reeves, who had ordered the township flag flown at half mast to mark Sullivan's funeral.

Reeves, 59, has been active in Sumpter politics for the past decade. First elected as a trustee in 1974, he later served a term as township clerk.

His four-year term as supervisor ends this November.

He's lucky!

Belleville's Vern Ellard may be unemployed but he isn't down on his luck. Ellard received news last week that he was one of the finalists in the Detroit Auto Show's "Lucky 13" sweepstakes that will provide him with a new car.

'13' is his lucky number... He has a new car to prove it

An unemployed Belleville man was one of a lucky 13 big winners in the 1984 Detroit auto show.

Vern Ellard learned last week that he had made a winning guess in a "Most Incredible" contest at the January Auto Show at Cobo Hall. Now the owner of a brand new "mystery car," Ellard found the news to be ... well, most incredible.

"I just filled out the form and forgot about it," said Ellard, who had never attended the auto show previously.

To win, Ellard speculated on the number of objects (coke bottles tennis balls) stuffed in the 13 cars. Ellard used a calculator the first two cars around, then "gave up and just guessed" the rest.

Ellard doesn't recall his guess of good fortune. Neither do any of the dozen other surprised winners, according to Mark Harris, a spokesman for the Detroit Auto Dealers Association.

"Several people called us to see if the letters were a joke," Harris said.

Harris will divulge that the objects totaled 26,640. But the name of the person who guess was the closest is locked away in the association's safe until a presentation ceremony on March 15.

"I don't even know who won," Harris said.

Sumpter, City Sand officials go back to negotiating table

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Sumpter Township and City Sand and Landfill officials resumed negotiations last week on an out-of-court settlement to their nearly three-year old dispute over the company's operation of a non-hazardous landfill on Willow and Elwell.

Township trustees met with representatives of the landfill company at a closed session on Thursday, March 1. It was a first meeting between the two sides since January 5, when a City Sand executive proposed the settlement.

Sumpter Township Supervisor Jim Reeves said that, while he couldn't reveal what was discussed at the session, the trustees were in the process of reviewing the proposal.

Trustee Virgil Humphreys called for the meeting, after learning that City Sand officials had contacted the board, asking to be put on a meeting agenda.

Last week's negotiations marked the end of a two-month stalemate between the board and the supervisor. Trustees, to a man, maintained it was the supervisor's role to initiate a meeting to discuss the offer, while Reeves insisted it was the trustees' responsibility.

At the January 5 open meeting between City Sand vice-president Thomas Handyside and the board, Handyside proposed a settlement almost identical to one rejected by the board last fall. City Sand officials had proposed the previous settlement, unanimously voted down by the board after months of private meetings.

The major difference between the two proposals was that the landfill company dropped its request to remove two million yards of sand from the township in exchange for a number of "benefits," Handyside said he thought sand removal was a "main issue" dividing the two sides.

The present proposal would allow the landfill company to begin 24 hour-a-day operations in order to speed up the final closing of the landfill which, say City Sand officials, is nearing its final grade level.

In exchange, City Sand would make several concessions: a $200,000 donation to be used for a recreation facility, construction of a storm/water flood basin, and a $25,000 inspection fee to be paid by City Sand to the township.

The landfill company would also agree under any circumstances not to apply for a hazardous waste license.

If a settlement is not reached, the two sides will face off in the Wayne County Circuit Court in about a year's time, say attorneys for both sides.

The feud began in the summer of 1981 when Sumpter officials padlocked the landfill, accusing City Sand of various local ordinance violations including elevating the landfill's grade level to an unauthorized height.

A few hours later, City Sand received a court order rescinding the order. The corporation then filed a lawsuit seeking damages of up to $1 million stemming from the padlocking incident.

Sumpter Township responded by filing a counter-suit of its own, seeking monetary damages of an unspecified amount.

Several trustees have said they would like to settle the matter without the expense and uncertainty of a court trial, but that they wouldn't allow 24 hour-a-day operations. Trustees point out that township residents are already up in arms about the noise and traffic caused by the weekday travel of City Sand trucks.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By John Brimble

Cheesecake moves from dessert to the main course or cocktail time, when it's made with a nonsweet crumb crust and zippy cheeses like cheddar, Gruyere, or parmesan. Vegetables, bacon, or smoked fish folded in will add interest.

Look for mustard that tastes more: richer mixtures, some with coarse mustard seeds or horseradish, are increasingly popular.

Leftover egg whites? Use 3 for chocolate chip meringues. Beat the whites with ¼ cup sugar and a pinch of salt, then fold in 6 ounces chocolate chips, 2 Tbs. unsweetened cocoa, and ½ tsp. vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls on a foil-lined sheet and bake 30 minutes at 275°.

Due in the future: Irradiated foods that won't need freezing to retain color, nutrition, texture, and flavor. Liquid juice concentrate could be stored at room temperature, for instance.

Easy fish rolls can use up leftovers. Sauté chopped mushrooms, onions, green pepper (or whatever's in the fridge), then stir in ½ cup instant rice. Pack stuffing in and around rolled fish fillets; sprinkle on ¼ cup white wine. Top all with foil and bake in a 350° oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

Easy dinner for the family: bring everyone to Capt. Nemo's.

Romulus fireworks survey backfires

Donald Kehn's attempt to prove a councilman wrong may have backfired on him.

Annoyed at Councilman Barry Baumann's attempt to ban sales of fireworks from temporary roadside stands, Kehn launched a petition drive last week to test the residents' attitudes toward fireworks and the stands.

He mailed and sent out a score of "flyers" which stated: "The City Council is considering a ban on the sale of fireworks from roadside stands. If you enjoy the use of safe and sane fireworks, and would like to be able to purchase these from roadside stands, it is imperative that you call your councilman.

You may register your vote by calling 941-0666 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"This flyer is paid for by Donald F. Kehn."

The results, thus far, are 37 votes for the ban of the temporary fireworks stands, while four votes against such a ban.

Business growth is No.1 concern

Thirty representatives of financial and retail outlets attended a joint "brain storming" session with Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally and Chuck Hazen of the Michigan Department of Commerce - Office of Economic Development last week at the Ramada Inn.

The meeting was the second in a series of four meetings to discuss the current and future business growth of the community.

In her opening statement, Mayor McNally said, "I believe that we all recognize that the number one priority today of any Michigan governmental unit is that of jobs and tax base."

"Romulus, along with many other communities in South-eastern Michigan has experienced the disastrous effects of an internationally depressed economy."

"Although we are encouraged by reports of an upturn, we are cognizant of the fact that if we are to realize the benefits of any recovery, we must expend effort and aggressively pursue the elements that make economic growth possible. Part of the pursuit is to identify our most marketable resources, develop a plan to promote and sell, and assure that we each understand our role and co-operate toward achieving our goals," the mayor added.

Hazen outlined his duties with the Michigan Department of Commerce and discussed pending legislation in the State Legislature in regard to state training labor programs for local businesses.

In the discussion that followed participants spoke of the need to improve the city's physical image, especially in the areas of road widening, curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Don Treder, Romulus Planning Commission chairman, spoke of needed support from the citizens and businesses to realize the overall plans for the city.

Mayor McNally echoed Treder's feelings by saying, "This administration stands ready to provide the needed changes, however, we must know that everyone in the community is going to be supportive of our efforts."

Also discussed were airport planning and the development of the Wick Road area.

Belleville man is arrested on drug charges

A Belleville man appeared in a Saginaw court last Friday on charges of possession with intent to deliver marijuana.

Woodrow Sloan, the owner of Woody's Service Station at 310 Main Street, appeared at a preliminary examination at the 17th District Court in Saginaw on March 2 and waived preliminary exam.

The defendant was bound over to Circuit Court.

No trial date has yet been set.

Sloan was arrested the evening of February 8 on the 5000 block of George Street in Saginaw Township, according to Saginaw police.

Detectives from the Saginaw County Sheriff's Office, the Bay County Sheriff's Office, and the federal Drug Enforcement Agency made the arrest.

Anthony Schultz of Lansing was also arrested with Sloan. The men spent two nights in the Saginaw County jail before being released on bond of $7,500 each.

Detective James Fowler of the Saginaw County's Sheriff's Department said that police had confiscated 50 pounds of marijuana and $31,000 in currency at the time of arrest.

Also confiscated was a 1984 Chevy Corvette belonging to Sloan, and a 1984 Chevy Blazer belonging to Schultz, police said.

Fowler said the confiscated cars will be kept as part of forfeiture proceedings.

Fowler said the arrests were made on the street at 7:50 p.m.

The suspects were in the process of "negotiating and selling"

marijuana to an undercover police officer at the time of arrests, he said.

The detective declined comment on the events leading up to the investigation. But Saginaw Assistant Prosecutor Eric Kaiser said that the arrests were originated by a Saginaw County task force as part of a stepped-up effort to curb narcotics traffic.

Sloan, whose address is listed at 1045 West Huron, is also the owner of the Bemis-Sumpter Service Station at 17441 Sumpter Road in Sumpter Township, and of Woody's Service Station on Willis Road in Augusta Township.

Benyo attends conference

The head of Public Fire Education Division of the Westland Fire Department has been appointed to a newly formed federal program dealing with the National Community-Based Volunteer Fire Prevention Program.

Battalion Chief Joseph Benyo, who has headed up the division for two years, had been meeting with 10 other groups of fire safety education persons in advance of an announcement of the Fire and Burn Safety Alliance, made at the National Conference on Fire Safety and Burn Prevention last month.

The alliance has been charged with the task of shaping fire education in the United States.

The conference was sponsored by the Federal Emergency Management Agency in cooperation with the National Fire Protection Association and the International Society of Fire Service Instructors and focused on successful community-based fire safety and burn prevention programs from both the public and private sector.

MUSICAL NOTES ON THE GRAMMIES

GRAMMY, OH GRAMMY!
Some thoughts on the grammy awards...

It was a contest in bad taste and bad make up when Joan Rivers joined Boy George and Culture Club on the air from London via satellite. Quote of the night was Boy George's "Thank you America, you've got taste, style, and you know a good drag queen when you see one." Hey, George — Tootsie you ain't.

Class couple of this year's award show goes to Rodney Dangerfield and Cyndi Lauper, who were simply great together. Rodney's pick-up attempt ("Hey, Cyndi, I really like your song, 'Girls Just Want to Have Fun,' but ya know, boys want to have fun, too, if you know what I mean.") and Cyndi's little girl go-away-you-dirty-old-man reply really clicked. She was great on the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson two nights later too, with Carson practically begging her to come back (he asked her three times!)

Rest assured Michael Jackson worried more than a few fans who heard his speaking voice for the first time on the grammies. It made me wonder if he ever tried out for the Broadway cast of La Cage Au Folles, which he'd surely get ahead of Boy George. Jackson not only set records for the number of awards won, but according to my calculations, he used the phrase... "who I love dearly..." an average of 9.6 times per award.

Best Confused Look: Christopher Cross, who looked like he didn't have the slightest inkling of what had just gone on following a fine live performance of "In a Big Country" by Big Country, who were nominated for best new group (they lost to Culture Club).

Strangest Moments: a tie. Annie Lennox of the Eurythmics, who performed in a black wig and looked like Lily Tomlin's male alter ego combined with Elvis Presley. Yech! Also, an unknown Beach Boy (it wasn't Dennis, though) who, after awarding Michael Jackson with an award, bent down and kissed his (one) gloved hand.

from Ann Arbor. Take note, promoters in that area. NRBQ-ites will be interested in knowing the two songs played by request a la the "music box" were "Inna-Gadda-da-Vida" and the theme from "The Beverly Hillbillies". And guess which local rock scribe put the names of both songs into the box?

T-Bone Burnett first came into prominence as one of many on Bob Dylan's traveling cavalcade, the Rolling Thunder Revue, but now he's big news on his own. His debut album, "Proof Through the Night" seems to be on every top ten of the year list, his live show is one of the three best there is. Judge for yourself next Tuesday night as Burnette brings his notoriously hot band into Ann Arbor's Second Chance. Call 994-5350 for ticket information. Be there or be square!

the Main Event Ballroom with the proceeds going to that worthy cause. The rings were to be presented or in this case represented at that time. I hope Stanley's previous party didn't take the luster off this one...

Did you see the picture of Bobby Knight kicking the floor mike during his team's loss to Michigan State? I don't know what that microphone did to deserve such treatment but it must have done something wrong, like maybe it wasn't calling a good game, or maybe it asked for a technical foul on poor mistreated Bobby. Whatever it was I'm sure the mike was definitely in the wrong...

A certain popular Red Wing player has asked the ushers to make sure there are no spectators around when he comes out of the dressing room. He does not want to sign autographs or talk to people. Word has it that his wife is the main culprit here. I wonder what it would have been like for them back at Olympia when then General Manager Ted Lindsay made his players go out the front door and meet the fans. This does not happen at Joe Louis Arena. It's too bad. I've seen a lot of friendships evolve in that corridor at Olympia between players and fans; the players don't know what they're missing...

March Madness is hitting high again as the state's high schools get ready for tournament play. Two things are missing though, Lofton Greene's River Rouge teams are no longer the scourge of Class B and the Swami, Hal Schram, will no longer amaze or anger us with his predictions in our Morning Friendly...

What a recruiting tool U of M came up with by scheduling a game with the University of Hawaii in Honolulu Dec. 6, 1986. What other school can promise your kid that not only will he be

How many of you racing fans know that Championship Auto Racing Team, better known as CART is located in this area? Southfield is the home of this world famous organization...

Speaking of racing, Detroit's glamour event, the Detroit Grand Prix III, will be held on the streets by the river June 22-24...

And for you runners, an even better event is coming up May 19 when the City of Romulus hosts it's second annual Michigan Week Community Pride 10 K. You better start getting in shape...

You know spring is here when you turn on your radio and hear the friendly voice of Ernie Harwell.

If it's spring then why does my golf ball keep getting lost in that white stuff. Spring doesn't start until March 21 you say? Good, that means only two more weeks of this wintry weather...

I'll leave you with some advice that a golf pro once gave me, "Remember, keep your head up and swing as hard as you can"...

Did I say I wasn't going to get on the soap box???

Tragedy . . . and a hero

TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

It was like a story right out of O. Henry. A man who, as a youth fathered a child and had not seen the child for more than 12 years, suddenly reappears to save his daughter's life...and forfeits his.

It is, indeed, a strange story. But it is also true, as told to us by Maryanne Piper, who played a prominent role in this drama.

The life that an arsonist snuffed out in Romulus early last Wednesday morning at Morgan Manor was that of 37-year-old Ronald David Malicki, a Detroit resident.

What had brought Malicki to Romulus on that fateful day was the woman who had borne him a child more than 15 years ago.

"Ron had left me when our daughter was only six months old," the woman related by telephone. Holding back her tears she described the tragic events that would claim her former lover's life but save four others.

With sadness in her voice, Ms. Piper continued. "I am still trying to piece together what happened. All of that smoke. The soot...I know that we jumped from that window but how it all happened...God only knows."

What apparently had happened was that at around 1 a.m. someone walked into the main hallway of Building F at Morgan Manor in Romulus, poured flammable liquid, ignited it and ran from the building.

In seconds, the building became an inferno. "Karen, our youngest who is 12, was playing chess with a friend," Ms. Piper related. "They smelled smoke. But, when you live in an apartment you get accustomed to someone leaving a frying pan on a stove . . . nothing serious."

But when the youngsters opened the door, the heat and pressure just pushed them back. The kids alerted the others to get out of the apartment. They went to the window and leaped three stories down.

"I got up from the bed and my eldest daughter, Diane, followed. Ron was yelling to us to get back into the bedroom...by that time the smoke had filled our apartment. I remember knocking out the screen in the window with my fist and putting my head out to get some air.

"On the ground I could hear my daughter screaming for me to 'jump.' I was shaky. I went through the window. But I don't remember the leap.

By this time the roof was ablaze and everything and everyone was blurred.

Diane later would tell her mother that she thought she was dead. Diane said that she remembered putting a pillow over her face and "wanting to go to sleep." The next thing she knew she too was on the ground, near her mother's side. She had suffered burns on her right arm.

Her father whom she had known only momentarily had remained in the apartment. Later, fire fighters would find the body. The roof had caved in on him.

Malicki, they theorize, had apparently managed to get Diane to the window and tossed her out before he himself was overcome by the smoke and the soot.

"Someone, somehow had brought him back into our lives...to save the lives of the people he loved the most. Wherever Ron is now, I want him to know he's a hero in his daughter's eyes and my eyes. We love him so."

Columns, 101

DAVID J. WILLETT
Publisher

The feedback about my recent humorous columns has been interesting. Some folks were most kind, some were charitable, some insulting. Every configuration of comment imaginable has come down the pipe. "You are really funny." "I read his article. What was he trying to say?" "You have been missing a bet for years by not writing. You're good!" And one unsigned letter attached to a copy of the column mentioning publisher suits "this is sick."

The compliments are usually in person or well identified. The unfavorable comments are always unsigned, anonymous or otherwise unidentified.

A column, I am reminded by colleagues, is a very personal thing. It reveals oneself to the world and makes the writer about as vulnerable to injury from painful criticism as you can get. But if a writer starts to play to the crowd and write for them, the essence is usually lost, and he or she should stop writing.

The focus of the news in this paper, and others, is to inform the reading public, to make them aware of events, problems, and situations around them. Editorials, on the other hand, are to express the "newspaper's" opinion or to advocate a position. The point of view is usually an editor's, sometimes a staff reporter's. Infrequently in these newspapers, mine.

I read my own newspaper's editorials sometimes, and get upset. Sorry staff. I just don't always agree although sometimes I do. In any event, I allow the expression of opinion even though it is sometimes contrary to mine, because it's healthy and because regardless of position it stimulates thinking and debate. I would not allow advocacy of Nazism, but some latitude is healthy. It isn't there for all to agree with, but rather to get things moving and to get people off the fence. "At some point," philosopher and lecturer Jim Rohn says, "it doesn't matter which side you get off on, just get off. If you're on the wrong side, you'll know it sooner." Advocacy is not the enemy in my opinion. Lethargy and complacency are.

This column will be read by some, agreed with by few probably and admired and respected by very few. But it will be me. Its function is to, at times, voice an opinion, MINE. It's function is to express a point of view, MINE. I will occasionally strive to inform, and hopefully, as in some of my recent columns, seek to do no more than serve in some small way to entertain.

I hope to make you laugh, to make you think about yourself, and how to be better. Sometimes I may bring a tear.

I hope at times I can help our readers better understand what we at Associated Newspapers are attempting to accomplish, and convey some understanding of why we do what we do.

But what you read will be sincere and from the heart and soul. Like it if you may, enjoy it if you can. Don't buy it or read it if you so choose. But understand if you are willing and able, that a columnist's function is to do what this column will be striving to do, express the viewpoint solely of the writer.

See you next week.

FIRE

An early morning fire last Wednesday that swept through Building F of the Morgan Manor apartment complex left one man dead, three others injured and approximately $300,000 in damages. State and Romulus fire officials say that the fire was deliberately set and are offering a $2000 reward through the state's "Secret Witness" program for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonist. Romulus fire units were joined by those from neighboring Wayne to fight the blaze that also routed some 5000 residents.

Penn makes her point

EDITOR — As a citizen of Inkster and duly registered to vote for elected officials for our city, I want to publicly state that I am very angry at our city fathers who have the nerve to tell citizens, who are demanding a change in the way our city has been run over the past several years, that if they don't like the way things are going, that they should move out of the city. I have been told, personally, by one councilman and have heard another one tell other citizens at council meetings to move if we don't like what is going on. I, for one, want these councilmen to know that Inkster is MY city. I CHOOSE to live here and I intend to STAY here until I DECIDE to move, if ever. In the meantime, I expect our elected officials to run the city in an honest, upright manner. This has not been happening in the past however the citizens are taking a long, hard look at what has been happening and are becoming more vocal and adamant that our city belongs to us and we intend to live in the type of city WE want, not in one where our elected officials think we are stupid or too dumb to know what is going on.

For too long, we have had the wool pulled over our eyes by elected officials who hold secret meeting, special meetings, illegal orientation sessions etc., to keep the public misinformed as to what is happening in the city. According to the Open Meetings Act, there are very few reasons any governing body has for holding closed sessions. All city business except negotiations, personnel matters (if requested by the employee) and contractual matters, are to be held in open session with the citizens knowing what is going on and being able to talk to the issues as they arise.

going to do everything in my power to help make it the kind of city we all want and I don't expect to be told anymore to move out of the city if I don't like what is going on. Responsible government is "By the people and for the people" and is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. We are told in that document that if government is repressive, it is our right and our duty to change it, and that is what I intend to do if our elected officials are not responsive to us.

Birthday greetings...

Thank you.
That's what this whole column is about... I have a number of friends, er, acquaintances, to thank for a very special day last Friday.
I knew they were up to something the minute I walked into the office and saw the packages, beautifully wrapped, on my desk. While I was doing my best to forget what may be referred to as one of the most depressing birthdays any of us ever have — there they were, my "friends" to rub it in, none too gently.
Yep, it was one of "those" birthdays. You know, one of the ones that lets you know that, yes indeed, you are rapidly approaching what is euphemistically referred to as middle age.
Anyhow, I had vowed to forget it — I mean, FORGET IT. No such luck — they were all just lying in wait for me. So, I want to thank them, individually, and express my gratitude properly.

SUE MCDONALD: Dear sweet sue... most people think of her as such a gentle, charming person. If they only knew. She's the one, I'm sure who thought of filling my car with inflated balloons. I mean, we're talking FILLED. From floor to roof, the seats, everywhere. Solid balloons. I couldn't get in the car, let alone attempt to drive it.
And she stood there and laughed. I'll get you McDonald. Just see who ends up covering the wastewater treatment story and listening to the complaint calls when a mysterious typographical error misspells a few names in one of your stories.
ROSEMARY REIZ: Oh, this one is really going to get it. It isn't bad enough that I have to face that youthful, gorgeous face and body every day, but now she's got the nerve to actually LAUGH at me for getting a little older. Well, Rosemary, old girl — I may just go back to covering Canton Township and let you do all this in house work and you will no longer be able to flirt with all the guys at township hall or the school board office. Take that.
DEBORAH WILLETT: This little charmer is the one, I'm sure, who thought of the singing telegram from Eastern Onion. The guy in the white tuxedo singing and telling jokes was bad enough, but that monkey routine was unbearable. Just wait, Debbie dearest, until your birthday arrives. I have my eye on this perfectly adorable pair of black, tie oxford, orthopedic-style shoes that I know you'd just LOVE.
DOUGLAS WILLETT: Now Doug's birthday gift and wishes were appreciated more than I can ever say. And I mean the word appreciate in the strictest dictionary definition. Someday, somehow, I will have the opportunity to express my sincere feelings about this gift to Doug — mark my words.

MY SISTER: How could I ever really thank her — she sent me about 25 cards each more insulting and derogatory than the next. I'm going to allow her the privilege of taking care of my two sons for a week or so — that is about the epitome of revenge.
MY SONS: They were, as usual, in hysterical laughter concerning my worries about being old. They called me "old lady" and "shorty" most of the day and proceeded to eat every crumb of birthday cake without leaving a single sliver for old mom. I wonder how they're going to like ironing their own shirts from now on.
THE OFFICE GANG: Oh, they did a job on me — this motley crew chided, giggled and pointed at me all day and thoroughly enjoyed my embarrassment and discomfort. They loved coming to my desk and asking innocently one after another, "And, how old are you, dear?" They'll be sorry — I'm going to continue to make their lives miserable and will remember when each and every one of them has a birthday. And which one it is.
BOB TURON: Now, I couldn't believe that dear, sweet Bobby our circulation manager took part in this, but there his name was, right on the card from Eastern Onion. The next time your wife phones, Bob, and I happen to answer, I'm going to tell her you left at noon for lunch with a beautiful blond, and I haven't seen you since. Hee, hee, hee. Then I'm going to tell your 6-year old how much you want to buy her a pony. Paybacks, as they say.
MIKE CARNE: Mike at least, had the decency to quit after his part in the prank — so getting even with him may take a little doing. I haven't given up, however, Mike, and I'll find some way to fix you. Perhaps marking "Deceased" on your professional mail as it comes in is a bit drastic. I'll think it over.
A CERTAIN PUBLISHER: No offense, folks, but this is one thank you that I intend to deliver in person.
In case you can't tell, this is almost all in jest — I loved every minute of it and appreciate this gang more than I could every say. I've never known such nice people as the Associated Newspaper family. Each and every one of them is a special and fantastic sort of person. They are warm, loving and kind and make every day at work a pleasure — just by sharing the loving kind of feeling that is here.
There is no proper way to thank them for the birthday and for every other day they allow me to share with them. I love them and consider each of them a dear and genuine friend — the most precious commodity is existence.
Thank you.

I, along with many other citizens, have serious concerns about some of the recent happenings in the city: the strange resignation of our city manager and the stranger separation pay he received; the highly unethical firing of a dedicated employee simply because he questioned the unethical procedures which took place concerning the ice rink, among other things; the questionable attorney fees paid by the former mayor and city manager out of our tax dollars; jam the city council so that this tions being drawn up for the new city manager. I have a feeling that I know for whom these qualifications are being drawn and, if I am right, the citizens should jam the City Council so that this appointment won't go through.
During the past election, the citizens voted for a change in government. We did not vote to retain the "Status Quo!" We are looking for our new mayor and the concerned, responsible councilmen to get the "Show on the Road." I am convinced that Mayor Betty Miller is trying to bring responsive government to the citizens, however, some of the councilmen are still not aware that old regime has bit the dust.
Inkster is a beautiful city. I am proud to call it HOME. I am

Private funds will pay for statue
EDITOR — Concerning Belleville's search for a statue to represent Robert LaSalle for placement in Liberty Bell Park, the purchase, if one is ever made, will be entirely by private funds contributed for that specific purchase.
Whether something can be found for $300 or $15,000, the funding cannot come from city funds, federal block grant funds or other sources of government money.
Horizon Park was developed entirely by private funding.
Prior to 1976 the park was wasteland covered with weeds and an eyesore to the city. The land was graded, seeded and plantings made without cost to the City of Belleville.
Even the curb and gutter came from block grant funds that are specifically stipulated for park use in the block grant contract.
The Victory Park gazebo is entirely financed from block grant.
The cost of all of our parks to the City of Belleville has been nominal and limited to mostly mowing, sprinkling, trash pick up and some repairs to the comfort station. Our parks are the best bargain ever. Enjoy them.

Wayne is 2nd best in Wolverine 'A'

Having a ball

Despite a disappointing 2-18 over-all season, Belleville High cagers look optimistically to the future. Coach Leon Birdyshaw's young line-up includes several promising sophomores and a pair of outstanding juniors who could turn that record around in 1985. Above, Dennis Montie (at left) appears to have created a new cage step as Todd Thornsberry (22) awaits a pass and high-scoring Bob Griffin (24) wants to get into the act. The Tigers dropped their final two games, 54-39, to Trenton and 62-42 to Wayne Memorial as they prepare for the Class A District playoffs.

Belleville finishes third

Despite some outstanding individual performances by local swimmers, Monroe used its over-all depth to capture the inaugural Wolverine "A" Conference championships staged last week at Trenton High.

Monroe parlayed two gold medals and 259 points to outdistance Wayne Memorial and Belleville for the first place trophy. Wayne and Belleville finished second and third, respectively, with 232 and 216 points.

Monroe's Bill Breeze was a double winner as he claimed a gold medal in the 200-yard individual medley (2:09.4), then came back for a 1:04.7 to win the 100-yard breaststroke.

Wayne received a superb effort from Steve Soules who stashed the 100-yard butterfly event into the Zebra winning column when he touched in at 54.79. Teammate Brian Byndas won the 200-yard freestyle as he was clocked in 1:49.1.

Belleville won the final relay as Coach Sam Vicchy put together a winning combination of Damon Sulkey, Ben Griffith, Chris Witt, and Greg Lynch who covered the 400-yard freestyle relay event in 3:23.6.

Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin was pleased with his team's over-all performance at the meet.

"I felt we swam well," said Coach McPartlin, "but, unfortunately, we didn't have enough depth to pull it off."

Since this is the first year of the conference's existence, all winning times were posted as records.

Prep swimmers and divers, who have qualified, competed in the regional diving competitions last night at Brighton High School. The swimmers who have qualifying times will travel to East Lansing on Saturday to compete in the state finals.

Belleville ends frustrating (2-18) cage year

It's been a frustrating first year for Belleville head coach Leon Birdyshaw.

Shackled with an over-all 2-18 won-lost record and deciding to go with underclassmen the second half of the campaign, Coach Birdyshaw believes his troubles are behind him. "It's been rough," Birdyshaw conceded. "We had our ups-and-downs but, believe me, we have a bunch of kids who have a great future. The kids we have out there now have the potential and talent to win."

Belleville closed out their regular season dropping a pair of Wolverine A Conference games. They fell to Trenton 54-39 and lost to Wayne Memorial 62-42. Wayne earlier had defeated the Tigers 91-45, playing against a senior Belleville club. Most of the Tiger veteran players had been dismissed from the varsity for a wide range of reasons.

Birdyshaw promoted his junior varsity to varsity status when he let his regulars go.

Belleville came out flat the first half against Trenton which outscored their rivals 16-6 and 16-7 the first two periods and grabbed a 32-13 halftime lead. Although the Tigers came back on the strength of Bobby Griffin's scoring power, they couldn't make up the difference.

The closest Belleville got was 12 points midway in the fourth period. Griffin connected on 10 field goals and picked up three of six free throws for a game high 23 points. He was the only Tiger cager to reach double figures, while Trenton guard Don Kolcheff caused most of the damage to the Tiger defense. He had 18 points.

Wayne put the Tigers away early as coach Chuck Henry's Zebras ran up a 19-3 advantage after the first eight minutes and went on to a 62-42 victory. Keith Strickland led the Zebras with 13 points, while Griffin again had 22 for the losers. The Belleville senior guard came up with 13 of his team's 18 second period points to keep the Tigers in the game. "In the first period they (See TIGERS Page 2-B)

Romulus hopes to end Class A district cage title drought

Romulus wrapped up a 16-4 won-lost regular season and headed for Temperance Bedford Monday night in hopes of winning its first Class A District Basketball Championship in a decade.

The last time the Eagles captured a district cage title was in 1974 when former Romulus and University of Detroit cage great, Johnny Long, was in a line-up. Long is presently a star with the Detroit Pistons.

Romulus was to engage Adrian (14-6) at 7 p.m. Monday night and the winner advances to tonight's (Wed., March 7) semi-final round against Ypsilanti. In Monday's first round Monroe was to clash with the host, Bedford, and the winner is scheduled to play Belleville at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday (March 7).

The Class A championship at Bedford will be decided on Friday at 8:30 p.m. The district champ will advance to the regional playoffs hosted by Eastern Michigan University.

"Well, this is it," said Romulus coach Al Wilkerson. "It's something these kids have worked for all year. It isn't going to be easy, but our kids can do it."

The Eagles gave their coach his 16th win at the expense of Cherry Hill who, behind the Merriman brothers - Mark and Mike - gave the winners a scare.

Mike Merriman connected on eight of his team high 14 points in the first period to lead the Spartans to a 21-18 advantage in the first period.

Although they were still in the game at the halfway point, trailing 40-36, the Spartans were outmanned and outgunned in the second half as 6-8 Romulus sophomore Terry Mills took charge. Mills scored 19 of his game and personal high 39 points in the final eight minutes to lead the Eagles to victory.

"He (Mills) was just great," Wilkerson said. "I didn't know he was that close to scoring 40 points or I would have left him in. Terry didn't play the final four minutes of the game."

Slicing between Rockets

Wayne Memorial's Keith Strickland cuts between two Westland John Glenn defenders in a game played earlier this season. The rematch between these two teams won't take place as Plymouth Canton knocked out the Zebras 56-55 in the first round of the Class A District Playoffs staged at Canton.

down and played a better second half."

Belleville gets into Class A District action tonight (Wed., March 7) as they play the winner of the Monroe and Bedford game at Temperance Bedford. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Glenn is 13th at state wrestling tourney

Bedford Temperance, the defending Class A state wrestling king, destroyed its challengers over the weekend to retain the crown it captured a year ago.

While Temperance was busy mopping up the competition, Westland John Glenn managed to come away with a 13th place finish, the best of any area representative.

Coach Tom Buckalew's Rockets received a third place medal from Danny Gibson, their 112-pounder, and teammate Mike Rossi captured a fourth place medal at 119.

Belleville got a medal performance out of its 126-pound senior, Tony Sebastian, who reached the consolation round of the 126-pound class where he lost.

Wayne's Dave Davis was the only other area medalist as the 105-pounder finished fifth in his weight class.

"Bedford just dominated this year's tournament," said Coach Buchalew. "They were the class of the tournament. However, I'm still happy at the way our kids and the area performed at this extremely prestigious tournament."

Glenn avenges loss to North

Rockets own all of Northwest cage crown

The first time the Rockets of Westland John Glenn and the North Farmington Raiders met on the basketball court this season, the Raiders upended the Rockets, 60-57, in triple overtime.

But four weeks and one Northwest Suburban League title later, the Rockets came home and avenged their only Northwest Suburban League loss with a resounding 74-44 victory over those same Raiders.

The victory gave the Rockets a 9-1 NWSL record, the best for a Glenn squad since the 10-0 record of 1978-79. Glenn also raised its overall record to 13-6 on the season.

The Rockets never let up in this one as they led almost from the start. Mario Grazulis and Jeff Hawley paced the Rockets in the first quarter with four points apiece as they led Glenn to a 17-11 lead. Every Rocket starter scored and reserve Todd Stein came off the bench to add a pair of free throws.

The Raiders, who return four of their five starters next season, came back in the second quarter and made a game of it. They closed the gap to one on a couple occasions and it looked like a repeat of that nail-biter these two teams played in late January.

Dean Temple, one of the returning Raiders for next season, hit a basket and four free throws to help the Raiders stay close and the Rockets on their toes.

But the Rockets had come home to celebrate their league championship with their fans and were not going to disappoint them.

Hawley hit 7 points in the quarter, including a 3-point play, en route to a game-high 17. Dave Long, who had been injured in the first North-Glenn game and hadn't played since, made his first appearance and hit two free throws.

Perhaps the nicest basket came when Stein stole a North pass under the Rocket basket and laid it in with :37 left. That score ignited the Rockets as they ripped off four more buckets before halftime and left the floor leading, 33-23.

The third quarter was all Rockets as they outscored North, 16-8, to take a 49-31 lead. Grazulis scored five more points in the period to post 15 for the game before retiring to the bench for the evening. Hawley added four more before he, too, left the game in favor of junior Dave Jensen. Glenn's lead reached 20, 49-29, at the :45 mark when Ron Taig hit a bucket, was fouled, and hit the free throw to complete the three-point play.

Chuck Henrich, one of only four seniors on the North squad, and Rick Anderson, who burned the Rockets for 12 points in January, divided the eight points for the Raiders in the period.

Coach Gordie Davis, enjoying his sixth league championship team, began emptying the bench as Glenn pulled away.

Jensen's two free throws with 7:09 left in the final period boosted the lead to 21 points, 53-

32, and the lead kept growing until it reached its' final 30-point margin. Nothing the Raider Coach Tom Negotien nor his team could do would stop the Rocket Express.

Stein's two free throws (he had nine for the game), Bob Nakev's 2 points, and Steve Henson's 8 gave the Rockets a 25-13 quarter as the Rockets put the icing on the cake, not just for the game but for their championship season as well.

But their weekend was not over as they returned to the court some 20 hours later to take on Ann Arbor Huron. Unfortunately, the result was not to the Rockets' liking, as they suffered a 68-61 loss.

The game was decided at the free throw line, as Huron connected on 22 of 25 charity tosses. Glenn hit only 19 of 30 on the afternoon.

Both teams played a fairly even game during the first half, with the first quarter ending 12-12 and Glenn taking a 26-24 halftime lead. Huron used balanced scoring while the Rockets used Grazulis' nine points to forge their halftime lead. Grazulis had 18 for the game.

Huron broke the game open with a 19-12 third quarter as Sheldon Gates hit eight and Alex Polakowski nine to give them a 43-38 lead.

The River Rats built their lead to as many as 11 in the final period before the Rockets made one of their patented comebacks (shades of Garden City) behind 6 points from Mike Baydarian and Hawley and five from Grazulis. However, Gates hit 11 points and Polakowski four free throws to ice the game.

Ford Tractor customers have a chance to win a two-year-old bay stallion named "The Cutting Edge" (worth $10,000) — shown above with famous jockey Howard Craig — or a three-day, two-night all-expense-paid trip for four to the May, 1985 Kentucky Derby in Louisville. Customers can enter the Ford Tractor National Derby Sweepstakes by visiting a participating dealership and obtaining a nation-drawing entry ticket. "The Cutting Edge" describes Ford's totally new line of lawn and garden equipment which permits close trimming and provides a neat, even cut.

Pothole season nearly here

The nation is approaching an annual event that tries the soul of even the most hardened motorist — the pothole season, warns the Automotive Information Council (AIC). Impacts with deep potholes have been known to loosen auto wheel covers, rupture tires and bend wheels. More commonly, repeated impacts with potholes can affect your car's tire inflation, wheel balance or wheel alignment, says AIC. The rising and falling temperatures of early spring can contribute to potholes as water seeps into pavement cracks and freezes, expanding and crumbling road surfaces. Symptoms of damage caused by pothole impacts may be a car that drifts to one side of the road when driven down a straight, level highway or a vibration in the front end. Underinflation of the tires can be a cause of vehicle handling difficulties. Using a tire pressure gauge, measure the tire pressure in all four tires. Add air if the tires are below the recommended pressure. Vibration or "shimmy" in the front end of the car may be due to unbalanced wheels. A wheel weight can be jarred loose on impact with a pothole and abnormal handling can result. A lost wheel weight will leave a mark where it was attached to the wheel. Inspect the wheels for dislodged wheel weights before having other service done. If adding air to the tires and checking the wheel balance doesn't solve your handling difficulties, have a mechanic check the car. Misalignment of the wheels can cause the tires to wear prematurely. The cost of a wheel alignment will more than pay for itself in tire life. Visible evidence of misalignment is excessive tire wear on one side of the tire or a tire tread worn with feathered edges, says AIC.

Ford Tractor offers chance at "Cutting Edge"

Ford Tractor dealers are the "first out of the gate" with a unique contest for consumers. Visitors to Ford Tractor dealerships can enter the Ford Tractor National Derby Sweepstakes to win a thoroughbred racehorse named "The Cutting Edge" — the theme of this year's advertising and sales promotion campaigns. "The Cutting Edge" theme is a perfect link to our dealers' totally new consumer-product models which permit close trimming and provide a neat, even cut," said R. J. Nicolazzi, general operations manager of Ford Tractor's North American Sales Operations. "The beautiful two-year-old bay stallion is an ideal parallel to the quality and performance of our newly introduced line of lawn and garden equipment. "As second prize, prospective customers have a chance to win a three-day, two-night trip to the Kentucky Derby in May, 1985. This is an all-expense-paid trip for four to enjoy the glamor and excitement of historic Churchill Downs in Louisville." To participate in the program, customers must visit a Ford Tractor dealership to obtain a national-drawing entry ticket. Each ticket also has a rub-off area. If the word "win" shows under the rub-off, customers are instant winners of attractive and durable garden gloves. The claim ticket automatically will be entered into the national drawing at Ford Tractor's headquarters in Troy, Michigan. The sweepstakes begin March 1, end June 30, and the national drawing takes place July 31, 1984. Winners will have the option to accept cash in lieu of the prize. (The racehorse is valued at $10,000 and the Kentucky Derby trip at $4,000.) Along with the sweepstakes, dealers are offering customers a free 38-inch rotary mower when the purchase a new Ford lawn tractor; a free 42-inch rotary mower with the purchase of a new Ford yard tractor; a free 48-inch rotary mower when they purchase a new Ford lawn-and-garden tractor, and a free grass catcher when they buy a new Ford rider mower. The free offers are effective March 1 to June 30, 1984. "Qualified buyers of our new consumer products also can take advantage of our new waiver-of-finance program offered through Ford Motor Credit Company," Nicolazzi said. "Under the program, finance charges won't begin to accrue, and buyers will not have to make an installment payment, until July 1, 1984."

Gas pump labeling law urged

A nationwide requirement for labeling service station pumps is being urged by the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association (MVMA) because of the increasing use of gasoline-alcohol blends. "The marketing of gasoline-alcohol blends has raised concerns about vehicle performance and possible harmful effects to components which the public should know about," says Dr. Fred Bowditch, MVMA vice-president of technical affairs. Recommendations regarding alcohol-blended fuel usage are currently being published in the owner's manual by vehicle manufacturers. But, without pump labeling the consumer is not able to evaluate and compare fuel characteristics with these recommendations, Bowditch explains. He said MVMA believes that fuel pump labeling is needed to indicate the type of alcohol (ethanol or methanol), the amount of alcohol present, and type of solvents (propanols, butanols and other heavier alcohols) which may be co-blended with methanol or ethanol to improve solution stability characteristics. Ethanol and methanol use may cause poorer fuel economy, higher evaporative emissions, driveability problems due to alcohol's effect on the chemically correct mixture of air and fuel, increased hydrocarbon and nitrogen oxide emissions, and deterioration of some materials in the vehicle's fuel system.

"We believe the labeling should be nationwide and on all pumps in order to reduce motorist confusion," Bowditch says. "Labeling pumps dispensing only gasoline-alcohol blends would be sufficient if enacted under some Federal authority. But, voluntary posting by some firms or individual state action may leave the traveling consumer confused when faced with a pump without a label." This stands on gasoline-alcohol blend pump labeling, Bowditch says, is part of a continuing effort by MVMA member firms to provide consumers with fuel and lubricant quality information to assure optimum performance and to prevent deleterious operation of motor vehicles.
